

Article Retraction/Withdrawal/Correction Policy

Article Retraction/Withdrawal/Correction Policy of AAYAM AKGIM Journal of Management is based on the guidelines given by COPE under the category of Non member Institutions.

Article Retraction Policy

Retractions are published under the following circumstances

- If editors found any clear evidence that the findings are unreliable, either as a result of misconduct (e.g. data fabrication) or honest error (e.g. miscalculation or experimental error).
- If editors found findings have previously been published elsewhere without proper cross referencing, permission or justification (i.e. cases of redundant publication) .
- If plagiarized data has been published.

Retractions are decided on a case by case basis by editor in chief in consultation with authors and reviewers of the article.

A signed statement from the authors will be required to be submitted by the concerned authors to the AAYAM editorial office before an article can be retracted. Agreement of all authors of a paper is required before a retraction can be published. In case if some co authors do not agree to the retraction of the article, the retraction will be published as decided by Editor in chief , clearly identifying the dissenting co authors.

To retract an article, a notice of retraction will be published. This notice of retraction will:

- include the title and authors of the article, the reason for the retraction and who is retracting the article .
- be published in the next print issue and be included in the table of contents of that issue.

Article Withdrawal Policy

Articles can be withdrawn either by the authors or the publisher.

The article can be withdrawn anytime before it is formally published in its final form with complete information about volume. Issue, page numbers etc.

If the authors request withdrawal of an article, a signed statement from the authors will be required to be submitted to AAYAM editor Office via email.

If an article is found to violate the ethical publishing guidelines of the Journal such as duplicate publication, plagiarism, fraudulent use of data, multiple submission or bogus claims of authorship, the publisher has all the rights to withdraw that article.

Article Correction Policy

Journal editors should consider issuing a correction if:

- a small portion of an otherwise reliable publication proves to be misleading (especially because of honest error).
- the author / contributor list is incorrect (i.e. a deserving author has been omitted or somebody who does not meet authorship criteria has been included).

If any error is discovered in an article after publication, corrections will be published in the next issue or as soon as the publisher & author, both agree to the proposed changes.

The corrections will be published only if a significant error is found in the paper like factually incorrect published information. Minor Corrections which do not significantly affect the content and understanding of the paper like spelling mistakes, typographical errors, and grammatical errors will not be published.
